

HEATHER CHRISTLE

Disunion

Every day to wake up supposing so many lines at once they seem more
of an air or some skin Please give me enough darkness to hear a bell ringing and keep it contained within a spotlight

a brilliant hole

Perhaps separate o
from its endless concluding if we find that we have to begin